Soviets 10 Miles
From White Russia

LONDON (CP)—The Red Army captured Velizh, 65 miles northwest of Smolensk, in a push that carried the Russians to a point only 10 miles from the White Russian border, while in the south a town only eight miles from Mollat was taken, Moscow announced tonight.

Bolsheya-Tokmak, 20 miles east of Zaporozhe on the Dnieper bend, also fell as the Russians closed in rapidly in an effort to cut the railway entering the Crimea.

Hundreds of villages were seized as the Russian offensive, now broadened to a 70-mile front, rolled on westward, said the broadcast bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor here.

Woman Jailed

CALGARY (CP)—Convicted in Police Court here today on a charge of bigamy, Mrs. Gladys Lillian Ferguson, 23, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labor.

"It is a strange thing these three marriage ceremonies should have been with soldiers," said Magistrate I. F. Fitch, as a warning to other girls.

OTTAWA (CP)—A sweeping new "freezing" order embracing employees of many industries, including those in jobs of the high "A" and "B" priorities, will be announced within a few days, it was learned authoritatively here this afternoon.

Officials here declined comment, but it was understood the order would affect many thousands of workers untouched by previous job-freezing regulations. It was believed to be designed to increase the efficiency of labor employed in essential work by curbing wastage through labor turnover.

Whole South Side
Of Bay of Naples
Seized By AlliesBy WES GALLAGHER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS,
NORTH AFRICA (AP)—

The Anglo-American 5th Army has seized control of the south side of the Bay of Naples by capturing all the commanding heights of Sorrento Peninsula, Allied headquarters announced today.

Already padlocked on the seaward side by the occupation of the islands of Capri, Ischia and Procida on either side of the bay, Italy's second largest port thereby came under the gaze of Allied soldiers across 12 miles of water and within range of artillery.

Easily within artillery range also were the Italian naval base of Castellammare, recently bombarded by the Royal Navy, and the key railway town of Torre Annunziata, both in the lower elbow of the bay. Smoking Vesuvius rose but 10 miles from the Allied mountain positions.

While troops occupied the peninsula stretching 22 miles west of Salerno, other parts of the 5th Army slashed eastward and northward from their Salerno beachhead in the Montecorvino and Battipaglia sectors.

The British 5th Corps, closing in from the Italian heel, captured Gioia, 28 miles from Taranto on the road to Allied-held Bari, and a headquarters spokesman said the Germans had completed the evacuation of Sardinia, the huge island and air base which Mussolini had regarded as the No. 2 defence outpost of Italy.

(The German high command admitted that Sardinia had been given up.)

With the capture of Sardinia by Italian troops acting under orders of Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio, the Allies gained the potential use of 10 airfields from which to press attacks on northern Italy and southern France.

It was not likely that much use was being made of Sardinia by Allied forces at yet, however, because of the floodtide of operations on the mainland now beating against Naples.

(A Morocco radio broadcast said the German commander had ordered a state of siege in the Naples area.)

Reports from the Salerno area indicated that battle casualties were not so high as had been feared at first.

The 5th Army advances were reported made "against decreasing enemy resistance."

Further reinforcements continued to arrive on the Salerno beaches to swell the ranks of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's British and American forces which Sunday were reported to have captured Battipaglia and Altavilla.

A military spokesman announced that all of Sardinia now had been cleared of German forces by two Italian divisions which ousted the Nazis on orders direct from Marshal Badoglio, who now is somewhere in Allied-held territory.

See Indications Nazis In Flight

There were indications the Germans were making a full retreat from the Salerno bridgehead, the spokesman said, adding that "considerable columns of enemy vehicles were observed withdrawing."

The air force reported that Allied aircraft attacked a column of 1,800 German vehicles traveling northward from Contursi, 10 miles east of Eboli facing the bridgehead, and destroyed or damaged 246 of them.

"The 5th Army also has advanced north of Battipaglia in the face of stubborn opposition," the spokesman said. Small gains also were made in the vicinity of Montecorvino.

The British troops who captured Gioia, he said, encountered no Germans, but only extensive minefields and booby traps.

There was little news from the British 8th Army, which now has advanced some 250 miles from the southernmost toe, but it was considered probable that the German withdrawal reported by the invaders near Contursi might have been caused by the 8th Army cutting deep north past the Salerno bridgehead.

"As we control all the heights of the Sorrento peninsula we undoubtedly control all of the peninsula since it is unlikely the Germans would stay in the lower parts just to be destroyed," the spokesman declared.

Amalfi and other towns on the south side of the peninsula were declared in Allied hands.

Canadian forces which landed in the toe of Italy Sept. 3 have driven northward along the east coast of Italy and have passed through Catanzaro. Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, reported in a delayed dispatch received Sunday.

His dispatch dated Sept. 16 showed that the forces of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, of which the Canadians form a part, met little resistance in their drive up the east coast.

Munro returned to the field after being out for a week recovering from tropical fever and exertion, results of his day-by-day coverage of the Canadian advance.

Churchill On Renown

LONDON (CP)—The Press Association said today that Prime Minister Churchill and his party returned from the Quebec and Washington conferences in the battleship Renown and landed at a northwest British port. The 32,000-ton ship has taken part in this war in both the Atlantic and Mediterranean. It has been listed as damaged in numerous enemy claims.

Coal Situation
In Britain Bad

NEW YORK (CP)—The BBC said Eddy Edwards, secretary of the British Mineworkers' Federation, had warned miners that "unless more coal is produced either the people will be too cold this winter or the fighting forces will go short of essential supplies."

The broadcast, recorded by CBS, quoted Edwards as saying the coal situation is "worse now than at any time since the war began" and that nearly all recent stoppages at the mines should have been prevented by negotiation.

Russians Crack Gateway
To Smolensk; Near Kiev

MOSCOW (AP)—Red Army troops under Gen. Andrei Yermenko, hero of the battle of Stalingrad, cracked through the gateway to Smolensk on the central Russian front over the week-end as the Soviet advance shifted into high gear all along the active 700-mile battle line, a Russian communique announced Sunday night.

Victory guns boomed out in Moscow again as Russian troops drew nearer to Smolensk and Kiev, two great German bastions on the Dnieper River. In the north the Red Army moved to within 30 miles of Smolensk, capturing Dukupovschina, while another Soviet column, striking down the railroad from Nezhin, was only 42 miles from Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

The Russian war bulletin indicated that the Red Army was sweeping westward rapidly, meeting only lightly-armed Nazi rear-guard as they captured village after village.

Smolensk Focal Point Of Current Advance

The Smolensk area was apparently a focal point of the present drive, with Gen. Yermenko bearing down heavily from the northeast while another column under Gen. Vassily Sokolovsky pushed into Yartsevo on the left flank.

Roslavl, to the south, was also menaced by the Red Army, which, the Soviet communique said, stormed across the Desna River, major tributary of the Dnieper, to capture Dubrovka, 32 miles to the southeast, in an advance of nine miles, during which 100 villages were taken.

Other army units advancing westward from Bryansk took 300 towns, including Trubchevsk, in a drive of 12 miles, the bulletin added.

On the lower central front the Russians were arrayed in a rough arc, with the columns aimed in the general direction of Kiev. Chernigov, at the northern end of the arc, was reported menaced by an 18-mile advance which occupied more than 100 villages, including the important centre of Beresna, 22 miles to the northwest. Another spearhead was only four miles away at Anisovo on the southeast.

In the main drive on Kiev the cities of Priukh, 30 miles east, Lubny, Pryatyn, Mirgorod and Kravchenko were held by the Russian advance, bringing the Red Army line parallel to the Dnieper River along a 100-mile front about 80 miles to the northeast. Other units were moving up for a frontal attack on Poltava.

Over $1,000 Taken,
Staff Put In Vault,
Manager Wounded

Two gunmen today at 10:50 held up the Douglas and Bay Street branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, ordered the staff of seven into the vault, scooped up more than $1,000 in cash from the teller's cage and escaped.

Six minutes later city police arrested two men near the E. and N. freight yards.

At 11:05 the pair, identified as Bob Dionne, of Victoria, and Charles A. Talbot of Winnipeg, were charged with armed bank robbery.

The men were taken into custody by Detective Morris Wilkinson and Constable Robert Morris.

J. C. Newmarch, manager of the bank, struggled with and disarmed one of the men. He suffered a gash on the right side of the cheek and injuries to his left arm.

TAKE UP CHASE

The call to the police station came in at about 10:55. Detective Wilkinson, accompanied by Dave Driver, Victoria Times police reporter, jumped in a patrol car and rushed, with sirens open, to the bank.

There a description of the hold-up men was given by J. R. L. Burridge, a customer who came to the bank just as the men left. Constable Morris, who had already combed the Government Street area in the police patrol, jumped in the detective car.

Wilkinson had a hunch the men would try to escape along the waterfront near the gas works.

Driving past the E. and N. freight yards, the detective, despite the need at which he was traveling, noticed two men walking between the freight cars.

"That looks like them," he said to Mr. Driver. He backed the car up rapidly, and Morris, taking his revolver from his hip pocket, rushed into the freight shed.

Wilkinson, with the reporter, ran around the block to Chatham Street.

STICK 'EM UP

Just as Wilkinson arrived, Morris thrust his gun into the back of one of the men. The other started to run, but his escape was blocked by Wilkinson, who ordered the pair, at the point of his gun, to stick up their hands.

The police searched the two men and ordered them into the car.

At the police station more than $1,000 in cash, mostly $5, $10 and $20 bills, was taken from the two men.

Mr. Newmarch told reporters later that the two men had entered the bank, and announced: "This is a hold-up. Go to the vault."

"I picked up a book, making out I had to look into the book," he continued. "One of the men told me to put it down. The second man started to scoop up the loose bills in the teller's cage."

GRAPPLED WITH GUNMAN

"I turned and grabbed the gun, and in the scuffle, I was surprised it did not go off," the other fellow came around and pointed his gun at me. He (the man Mr. Newmarch was struggling with) said: 'Don't shoot. Don't shoot.'"

The men then rushed out the front door. Just as they were leaving they were met by Mr. Burridge. He drove around to Government Street, but did not see them again. He told several bystanders to be on the lookout for the men.

He arrived back at the bank just as the police arrived.

Mr. Newmarch's face was gashed by the hammer of the revolver during the struggle. The gunman twisted his left arm while wrestling with him for possession of the gun.

Besides Mr. Newmarch there were in the bank at the time, six bank workers.

They were: Gertrude Pestre, 2323 Fort Street, who took over the teller's cage this morning for the first time.

Margaret Readman, 1149 Tolmie Avenue, savings ledger keeper.

Mrs. Winnifred Warren, 1050 Southgate Avenue, clerk.

Joan Parker, 1531 Jubilee Avenue, teller.

Florence Rowley, 1278 King's Road, clerk.

June Flinton, 126 Ontario Street.

MISSED TIED MONEY

In the cash drawer from which the men took the money between $3,000 and $4,000 in bills was tied up. This was overlooked by the hold-up men.

Neither of the robbers entered the vault.

At the time they were arrested neither of the men had guns in their possession. They wore brown suits and had a couple of days' growth of beard.

Police are making an intensive search of the ground over which they went to find the second weapon.

Preliminary investigations produced a pair of overalls and an empty holster.

Shaw Runs Ad,
Awaits Own End

LONDON (CP)—George Bernard Shaw, whose wife died Sept. 12, inserted the following in the personal column of today's London Times:

"Mr. Bernard Shaw received such a prodigious mass of letters on the occasion of his wife's death that, though he has read and values them all, an attempt to acknowledge them individually is beyond his powers."

"Therefore he begs his friends and, hers to be content with this omnibus reply and to assure them that the very happy ending to a very long life has left him awaiting his own turn with perfect serenity."

Nazi Prisoner Runs
From Ontario Camp

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—An unnamed German prisoner of war has escaped from the prisoner-of-war camp at North Bay, Ontario, it was learned here today from camp officials.

The prisoner made his escape by cutting his way through the wire barricade at the camp early this morning. Guards from the Montclair camp, Ontario provincial police and Royal Canadian Mounted Police are searching the Montclair area, while police at North Bay have been instructed to watch highways and incoming trains.

5 Airmen Killed
In Island Crashes

Five airmen were killed Friday afternoon and early Sunday in the crash of two R.A.F. aircraft, it was reported today by air force officials at a west coast air station.

Four of the fliers met death in the water off Vancouver Island Sunday morning when the medium bomber which they were taking on a routine flight was observed by another aircraft to crash into the sea.

Rescue craft were on the scene shortly after and picked up wreckage from the crashed plane but saw no trace of the occupants. Search by both surface and aircraft is continuing.

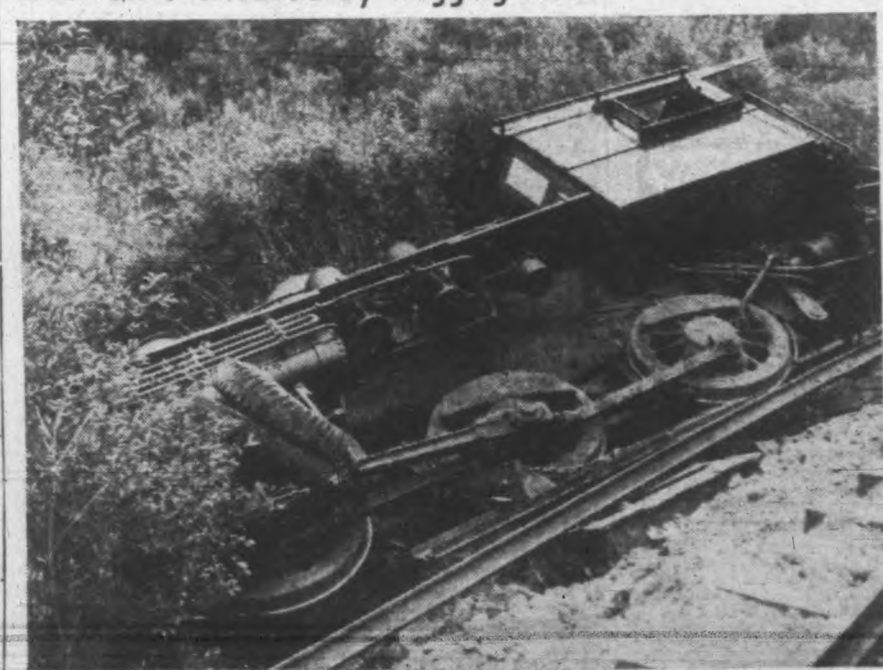

The fifth flier was killed Friday when the plane he was flying got out of control and crashed at the airfield, bursting into flames. He was engaged on a routine solo flight.

Next of kin of all five fliers have been notified. The victims' names will be released shortly.

Victorian Gets Commission

Ten airmen graduated as pilots from No. 15 service flying training school R.C.A.F. at Chesham, Alta., have been appointed to commissions, No. 4 Air Training Command announced today. They included Gordon Craig, Victoria, B.C., and Arthur D. Pearce, Vancouver.

Locomotive Derailed By Logging Truck

Canadian National Railways equipment was en route from the mainland today to raise the tracks. The 125-ton freight locomotive, shown above, which last Friday, with the tender and two cars, was derailed at Glen Lake, 10 miles from Victoria.

The locomotive, pulling 19 cars, was traveling at about 20 miles an hour when it struck a loaded logging truck driven by Alfred Peatt, on the Station Road level crossing.

Neither the truck driver, nor three men on the locomotive were injured.

The engine tumbled down an eight-foot bank and turned on its side. About 80 feet of track were torn up.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

The Allies' brilliant coup in the capture of the Japanese base of Lae on the fetid island of New Guinea presages important developments in the near future. Another big naval and air engagement may be expected to grow out of the present situation.

Indication of a new phase of Allied offensive in the south Pacific is seen in the attack by strong U.S. naval forces at the week-end on Tarawa Island in the Gilbert group, and on Nauru Island, west of the Gilberts. The waters of the south Pacific are beginning to boil.

President Roosevelt in his message to Congress last week called pointed attention to the fact that the position "has become a threat on our part against the Japanese in the seas that lie north of the Solomons and north of New Guinea." Gen. MacArthur also has said that the Lae victory is a serious blow to the Japs.

STRONG TESTIMONY

That's strong testimony, and the significance of it is this. The New Guinea coast on which Lae is situated lies close to the island of New Britain, where the Japs have their powerful base of Rabaul. That base is the key to all the islands which they hold in the New Guinea and Solomons area.

Lae gives the Allied forces a springboard from which to strike at Rabaul. Important as Rabaul is, however, MacArthur already is looking across it to another much bigger prize some 800 miles farther north. That's the island of Truk, headquarters for a big part of the Japanese fleet which isn't in home waters.

Possession of Truk will put the Allies in a highly-favorable position for naval operations toward the Philippines, the East Indies and Japan herself. But capture of Truk must mean another great naval battle, unless the little men of Nippon run away.

JAPS NOT EAGER

The Japs have shown little eagerness for another major clash. Still, that battle is bound to come, and it's likely it will fairly well settle the naval argument out side Japan's home waters, where they are holding the main fleet as a vital protection for their tiny island kingdom.

It isn't unlikely the offensive which is steadily growing in the southwest Pacific may be co-ordinated with the projected drive against Burma. One would expect that under normal conditions Admiral Louis Mountbatten, commander of the Burma show, and Gen. MacArthur would co-ordinate their efforts so as to split the Japanese naval and air forces.

Churchill Home, Preparing Report To Parliament

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, back in Britain after a momentous six-week visit to Canada and the United States, plunged today into the task of preparing a war review to be presented shortly to the House of Commons.

The review, which will be the Prime Minister's first since his brief statement to the Commons July 27 and which is expected to be one of his longest, will open a two-day war debate when Parliament reconvenes after its brief summer recess.

It is anticipated that during the debate the government will be asked, among other things, to explain why Italy was given a "breathing space" after Mussolini's fall and why the Allies failed to demand from the Badoglio government the immediate surrender of the former dictator.

The first Commons debate in eight weeks also is expected to demand additional details on the Italian surrender, more definite news of proposed conference between Britain, the United States and Russia, and information on the operations of A.M.G.—the Allied Military Government in occupied territory.

1910-1919 EQUALLED

When Parliament reconvenes it will have become the longest-lived Parliament for more than 250 years. Today it exactly equalled the life span of the government elected in December, 1910, which was prolonged until November, 1919, because of the First Great War.

The present Parliament first met Nov. 26, 1935. Only three Parliaments in Britain have had a longer history—the Elizabethan Parliament of 1572-83; the Long Parliament, 1640-53, and the Cavalier Parliament, 1661-79.

Mr. Churchill, accompanied by Mrs. Churchill and their daughter, Mary, a subaltern in the A.T.S., returned to London aboard a special train Sunday evening after their trans-Atlantic plane had landed at an undisclosed point.

They were given an enthusiastic welcome at the station by a crowd which somehow had learned when the Prime Minister's party would arrive.

Industry is helping win the war...
industry must help build a peacetime world

After the war is decisively won... what kind of world is essential for a just and durable peace?

This question is being asked today everywhere in the world. No expert is needed to tell you the answer.

It must be a world as peaceful and neighbourly as your own town; a world in which decent people can bring up their children decently. It must be a busy world where factories and farms are working and where there are jobs for all.

How can such a world be brought into being? The surest way is to think and talk about it. Full and complete discussions on the porches of this country, over its fences, in churches, schools, clubs, and always at meals—that is how the terms of A JUST AND DURABLE PEACE can be formulated.

In your discussions keep in mind this fact; your terms of peace must be such that the people of other lands can agree with them. There must be provision in your plans for sustained production and for consumption of that production.

Only a world peace that squares with the conscience of men of good will can be just. Only a just peace can endure.

Smolensk and Kiev

ISSUING SPECIAL ORDERS OF THE day is becoming an increasingly pleasant task for Marshal Stalin. But we can imagine a particularly bright twinkle in his eye as he announced yesterday a wide breach of the defensive system guarding the approaches to the vital German bastion at Smolensk. No less significant was the second communiqué reporting that only 35 miles separated the valiant Soviet armies from the Ukrainian capital of Kiev. It should also be noted that no fewer than 1,107 towns and villages were returned to their rightful owners within the space of 24 hours. What this has meant in physical and material loss to the enemy is a circumstance about which the German high command will have to do the worrying. In any event, the people of Moscow will have cause to remember with gratitude and glee the victories of Sept. 19, 1943. They will have noted that Russia's fighting men have advanced more than 670 miles since the great Nazi disaster at Stalingrad.

Nor need Marshal Stalin do anything but smile as the official Berlin military spokesman explains that this "successful movement of German troops in a westerly direction was carried out with masterly exactitude." One can almost sympathize with the Goebbelsian propagandists as they explore their already expanded lexicons in an effort to find new verbal coatings for the bitter pills which the incredibly resourceful Russian generals seem able to compound day after day. What is becoming more difficult for the outside world to understand, however, is how much longer the apologists in the Nazi capital will be able to keep the people on the home front in a frame of mind that will enable them to contemplate the inexorable Russian advance without an explosion of some kind. This, too, is solely the concern of Adolf Hitler.

It may be asked how the German people who understand European geography as well as and better than most will continue to reconcile the fanciful "explanations" of obvious defeat with the daily eliminations of so many strategic points which they were told were strong enough to keep the Soviet armies definitely in Russian territory. This latest "successful movement" toward the west, moreover, will probably recall to some German minds last week's flamboyant Berlin communiqué which announced that the Anglo-American invasion of the Italian beaches at Salerno had been turned into another Dunkerque—that the Fifth Army had been driven into the sea. True, the bemused populace of the Reich have only dangerous means of outwardly displaying their emotions; but the prospect of the early loss of both Smolensk and Kiev may produce repercussions likely to add seriously to the Fuehrer's troubles.

Sardinia Falls

EVEN THOUGH CORSICA MAY HAVE to be fought for, the removal of Sardinia from the sphere of enemy operations will give the United Nations a most valuable piece of territory on which to base their aerial attacks against a still wider area of the "soft under-belly" of the Axis in the Mediterranean theatre, not excepting southern France. The fact that Italian soldiery effected the ejection of the island's Nazi defenders is significant in itself.

With the establishment of airfields in Italy, as the Allies progress northward, the use of Sardinia not only will add to the safety to the middle sea and facilitate such other operations as may be contemplated east or west of the present invaded sphere; it will bring those supposedly "safe" Nazi war factories in southern Germany and Czechoslovakia well within effective striking distance of Allied bombers.

The appreciably changed outlook for the campaign on the Italian mainland, plus the actual and potential value of Sardinia and Corsica, likewise should have an important bearing on such action as Turkey may be contemplating. And the men of Ankara assuredly must be taking careful stock of the incomparable triumphs of the Soviet armies. The capture of Novorossisk and the early prospect of accelerated Russian naval operations in the Black Sea ought to influence Turkish policy.

Remarkable Young Man

FEW OF THE TENS OF THOUSANDS OF gallant lads who have split the clouds over Hitler's Europe in the last year or so would care to be classified as talented speakers. Not many men in any walk of life are demonstrably efficient in more than one field of human endeavor; it is perhaps better that this should be so. None relishes the sobriquet of "jack of all trades." The usual corollary is "master of none." Those Victorians who were privileged to hear Wing Commander Guy P. Gibson, V.C., D.S.O., D.F.C., at the civic luncheon last Friday afternoon, however, experienced an unforgettable manifestation of the exception to the rule. And history, of course, has already established the right of this brilliant young Englishman to be considered the complete master of his "trade." For on that May morning four months ago the world of liberty-loving peoples thrilled to the early accounts of what was destined to go down on the records of Bomber Command as an unparalleled feat among the daring exploits of the war in the air to date.

Even the most inspired historian has his work cut out to infuse into his translation of official communiqués, his orderly documentation of mechanical achievement, the essential human concept of a great task superbly performed. But from the moment this unassuming knight-errant of the skies began his extemporaneous address—with an unblinking confession that "I am not a very well read man"—the paramount impression he conveyed to his listeners was that he had a moving and compelling story to tell and knew how to tell it. But it was in the telling of it that this much-decorated airman revealed his dual ability, his right to have his name inscribed on the roster of really great speakers near to the niche already carved out for him.

One wishes that Wing Commander Gibson's address could be included in every Canadian school book; not as a glorification of war or its most modern methods, but as a reflection of the contrast in outlook which his narrative revealed so eloquently and convincingly. Its simple modesty alone, its heartfelt tribute to comrades who did not return, was like a breath of clean, refreshing air in a miasma of universal carnage. He is the type of citizen Canada would gratefully welcome when the world has regained the serenity of peace. But before the bells of victory ring out we shall hear, if we mistake not, much more about the young man who led so daringly and brilliantly the raid on the great dams of the Moehne and the Eder.

An Election Or?

SOME NEWSPAPERS WHICH ARE IN the habit of criticizing the King government, with or without cause, are already beginning to frown on the idea of calling a general election. They do not know, nor can anybody tell them at this stage, what the forthcoming gathering of the National Liberal Federation portends. Whether it involves more than a general stocktaking of party fortunes, an introspective survey, an analysis of the state of the public mind, or a decision for or against an appeal to the people after only three and a half years in office—these are speculations on which light will be shed at the proper time.

One consistent and traditional critic of the present Ottawa regime properly contends that "whatever else might be argued in its favor, the Mackenzie King administration has two unexpired years to go in office before a general election would be necessary through any demand of parliamentary procedure," that it "cannot therefore plead lack of support in the House of Commons, or indeed the Senate." And there is much to be said for the same conservative newspaper's argument—that "the division, turmoil and contention of a federal general election would not be precisely the best backing that Canada could give to those of her men and women who are fighting for her overseas, unless, as stated, some very strong reasons are present. Political expediency would not be a valid reason, nor could it justify the expense and unrest of a federal general election at a crucial moment in the war."

The foregoing obviously raises an important question: If newspaper and other critics of the Dominion government—and much of the objection in many parts of Canada to the policies it has pursued is based on the flimsiest foundations—are really opposed to the holding of a general election at this time, are they willing to discontinue a method of attack more notable for its political prejudice than for its logic? They cannot blame the administration for practically everything but the weather and, at the same time, seriously argue against a desire on Mr. King's part to ask the Canadian people whether they think his conduct of the nation's affairs in these trying days is satisfactory or otherwise. This is not to discuss the merits or demerits of much the government has done since the electorate so overwhelmingly endorsed it on March 26, 1940. It has made mistakes; what government is free of this charge? But an impartial accounting would strike a very substantial credit balance.

On this account alone, therefore, if as a result of his intention to take counsel with his supporters, the Prime Minister should discover no valid reason to put the country to the "expense and unrest" which a general election would certainly occasion, the government would have the right to expect a cessation of that type of grumbling which lends itself to only one interpretation—a desire for office and power.

War Burdens

IN SPITE OF THE DIFFICULTY OF finding manpower or materials for public works, many municipalities have been driven to vast increases in civic services because of the pressure of war industry expansion. Studies made by the American Public Works Association, for example, show rises in the cost of street maintenance of as high as 600 per cent. Of large cities, Los Angeles has been hit hardest, its expenditure rising from $1,000,000 in 1939 to more than $2,900,000 for this year. The cost of street cleaning has risen steeply—in Milwaukee from $280,000 to $500,000, in Detroit from $550,000 to $840,000. The cost of garbage collection and disposal also has mounted greatly. What applies to many American cities, of course, applies to Canadian communities.

Education for Peace

MANKIND should be able to devise a way of transcending cultural differences in order to create and live in a peaceful world, the fourth annual Conference on Science, Philosophy and Religion was told at the Men's Faculty Club of Columbia University.

Speakers of world-wide reputation in the fields of education, arts and letters and philosophy stressed the responsibilities of their groups not only in the present crisis, but in the postwar period if enduring world peace is to become a reality and not a vision.

Dr. Howard Shapley, director of the Harvard College Observatory, expressed the hope that education would be brought on a higher level. International centres of learning, he declared, would do much to bring about permanent peace.

TWO PROVOCATIVE PAPERS

TWO PROVOCATIVE papers on "Education for Enduring Peace," by Dean Grayson N. Kefauver of the School of Education, Stanford University, and William Heard Kilpatrick, Professor Emeritus of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, evoked warm discussion. Dean Kefauver proposed the establishment of an international education organization, patterned somewhat along the lines of the International Labor Office, with representatives of all nations co-operating in its deliberations. The international education organization, Dr. Kefauver said, should be the successor of a temporary international education commission to be organized immediately after the war.

He suggested that the permanent organization "provide leadership in getting educational institutions to emphasize problems and materials which relate to the life and culture of different countries, interdependence of nations and citizenship in the world community; problems of postwar adjustment and reconstruction, and democratic theory and practice."

Dr. Kilpatrick warned that no outside authority should try to direct reconstruction of the school system of Axis countries after their defeat. He said education for reconstruction could go forward within any conquered country only as the new leaders of that country, the dominant new outlook of the country and its national school profession together brought forth and approved a school program.

Dr. Kilpatrick also outlined suggestions for an international educational council as well as a joint commission of European refugee educators to be organized now to study the problem of the needed reorganization of all the central European school systems.

TEACHER TRAINING

JAMES Marshall, former member of the Board of Education, suggested in the discussion that the international educational organization should trade administrators for the school systems of various countries and should establish model training schools for teachers in different parts of the world. He declared that leadership for German education could be expected from the young people now in Germany, "many of them in concentration camps." He, too, warned against "attempts to impose our will on the Germans after the war," and added that if we did this "we will cause such animosity that we will defeat our own purpose."

Dr. Justin W. Nixon, Professor of Theology, Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N.Y., suggested that the international educational organization be as detached from government as possible.

Dr. Reinhold Schairer, director of research, United States Committee on Educational Reconstruction, in commenting on a suggestion that all Nazi teachers in Germany be removed after the war, pointed out that about 20 per cent of the teachers in Germany were active members of the Nazi party. To this Dean Kefauver replied: "We ought to remove all prominent Nazis, but we can't remove all the teachers. We must, however, remove those placed in the schools for Nazi purposes."

Prof. Lyman Bryson, Teachers College, Columbia University, declared that philosophers believed that men fought because of wrong ideas. He said that some philosophers say "we should do our best to get out of our own cultural and religious, as well as our political and national presuppositions, in order to understand the moral ideas of other civilizations."

GEMS OF THOUGHT—DESIRES

"Our nature is inseparable from desires, and the very word desire—the craving for something not possessed—implies that our present felicity is not complete."—Thomas Hobbes.

"There is nothing capricious in nature; and the implanting of a desire indicates that its gratification is in the constitution of the creature that feels it."—Emerson.

"A wise man will desire no more than he may get justly, use soberly, distribute cheerfully, and leave contentedly."—Richard E. Burton.

"Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires, and in having only right desires."—Augustine.

"Desire is prayer; and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be molded and exalted before they take form in words and in deeds."—Mary Baker Eddy.

Parallel Thoughts

Every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth.—Matthew 7:8.

O God, if in the day of battle I forget Thee, do not Thou forget me.—A soldier quoted by W. King.

Food Prices and Living Cost

When family living costs are mentioned the mistress of the household thinks immediately of food prices. This is natural, because food is the largest single item in the wage-earner's family budget. During the past year or two the lady of the household has found a growing strain on her purse strings caused by higher prices of foods; this strain is by no means a figment of her imagination. Food prices have very definitely advanced.

Official figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the wartime increase in the price of foods has been nearly 33 per cent to July, 1943. The mistress of the household is puzzled when she compares this increase of 33 per cent with a rise in the cost of living index of only 17.9 per cent. How is that brought about? How is it that the cost of living has increased only 17.9 per cent when foods alone are 33 per cent higher?

The answer is really simple, although these two percentages look contradictory. They are part of the same picture. When the bureau of statistics calculates its cost of living index, it considers not only foods, but fuel and lighting, rent, clothing, home furnishings, and a miscellaneous group of items, including health costs, items of personal care, recreation, transportation and life insurance. Every day of the year, money is being spent on these things and the cost of living picture would be incomplete if they were omitted from it.

When the bureau made a survey of actual family living expenditures, it found that all of the groups listed above formed important parts of the total living costs. So prices are collected each month for representative items in all these budget groups.

As has been mentioned, food prices to July, 1943, have shown a wartime rise of about 33 per cent. This is the greatest rise which any of the main budget groups has shown. Due to the freezing of rents, the general advance in rentals has been just over 7 per cent; the miscellaneous group is also up about 7 per cent. Other groups have gone

OUTPUT FOR WAR

From Toronto Star

Exports from the United States for the first six months of 1943 amounted in value to $5,488,000,000, which was greater than the total for any entire year between 1921 and 1941 and 57 per cent higher than for the corresponding period last year. The figures for 1941 and 1942 include shipments under lend-lease but not shipments of materials for American armed forces themselves.

BRITISH SCHOOLS

From Vancouver Sun

British schools intend to employ 60,000 more teachers after the war to give vitality to a progressive theme that from the age of five onward "education is a continuous process in successive stages." There will be special provision for adequate footwear, intelligent religious instruction, medical care, universal milk and a university education for those who want it. An ambitious scheme and a wise one.

HANDLE WITH CARE!

... You'll get more wear!

It's not only a question of economy to make your clothes last as long as possible—it's a matter of necessity, just as it is with your car, tires, electrical equipment and other commodities. It is also our patriotic duty as good citizens to make everything we own last longer—and that definitely includes clothing.

As makers of good clothes for men and women for over three decades, whose main task today is the production of uniforms for our fighting men, we offer these reminders of how to make your clothes give you longer and better service:

1. REST YOUR CLOTHES
Just as you need relaxation, so do your clothes. Alternate your suits. Give the wool a chance to spring back into shape.
2. BRUSH YOUR SUITS DAILY
You brush your teeth every day—do as much for your clothes. They'll appreciate it.
3. HANG YOUR SUITS UP CAREFULLY
Give them breathing space in your closet, so they won't crush. Use hangers that conform to the lines of the coat. Don't throw your clothes around the room—hang them up where they belong.
4. CLEAN WHEN NECESSARY
Choose a reliable cleaner who knows his business.
5. GUARD AGAINST MOTHS
An ounce of moth prevention is worth many dollars in the longer life of your clothes.
6. CHECK FOR RIPS AND TEARS
"A stitch in time" may save greater damage or a whole suit.

P.S. Naturally, your clothes must be good clothes to begin with—the kind of quality clothing Tip Top Tailors has been famous for since 1910.

No Curtailment of Navy Building, Says Yarrow

Hint of the permanence of the naval shipbuilding industry here was given by Norman A. Yarrow, managing director of Yarrow's Ltd., at the launching of H.M.C.S. Orkney Saturday.

The Orkney, christened by Mrs. J. Sparrow of Yorkton, Sask., was one of 12 navy ships launched on "Ships for Victory Day," the biggest day in Canada's shipbuilding industry.

"Today is history-making for Canada in regard to her war effort, as 12 ships are being launched in the Dominion from Halifax to Victoria," said Mr. Yarrow to a great audience of shipworkers and spectators.

"We are all very proud that we have the opportunity of contributing to the fighting strength of that gallant service, the Royal Canadian Navy, whose officers and men and ships have done such valuable, successful and heroic work against great odds," said the shipbuilder.

INCREASE PRODUCTION

"It has been announced that there is to be some curtailment in the production of cargo vessels, but there is to be no reduction in the production of naval craft such as the ships we are building; in fact we are being continually urged to increase our production."

"It is unfortunate," he said in

Mrs. J. Sparrow of Yorkton christens ship.

one part of his speech, "that it takes a war to produce this shipbuilding activity, and I hope that when the war is over—and there is a long road before us yet—that the government will see fit to continue naval shipbuilding, so that the Canadian Navy, of which we are all so proud and value so highly, can be maintained at the highest state of efficiency, and at the same time retain in employment those who are now skilled in this work and who have played such an important part in the building up of Canada's naval strength."

Orkney's launching was a more elaborate ceremony than usual. The prayers of the naval chaplains were amplified by the loudspeaker system, the R.C.N. band was in attendance, playing appropriate selections, and National Film Board cameramen shot the launching for the screen news.

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. Yarrow and W. G. (Bill) Leth, superintendent of No. 2 plant, were heartily congratulated on the success of the launching.

ELSEWHERE IN CANADA

Eleven other navy vessels were sent afloat Saturday in various parts of Canada.

H.M.C.S. Micmac, largest ship of war ever launched from a Canadian yard, was launched at Halifax. She is a Tribal Class destroyer. Another frigate, H.M.C.S. Toronto, was launched at Lauzon, Que.

A corvette was launched at Midland, Ont., and was christened H.M.C.S. Whitby. Ontario centres also contributed the three tugs, the minesweeper, the naval tanker and a Fairmile. Two tugs slid into the water at Owen Sound, while another was a product of Trenton. The Fairmile, 100-foot sub-chaser, was built at Toronto. Also launched at Toronto was an Algerine class sweeper, christened H.M.S. Regulus, for the Royal Navy.

The naval tanker, a 168-foot vessel and the second of its type to be built at Windsor became H.M.C.S. Dundurn before slipping into the Detroit River.

The freighters launched at Montreal and Sorel were of the 10,000-ton type. That launched at Montreal was christened the Fort Esperance, while that at Sorel became the Fort Lennox.

Pte. Leslie Harvey Wilson, R.C.O.C., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, 1738 Haultain St., who has arrived overseas, according to word received by his parents. Pte. Wilson received his schooling at Eamont, V.I., and Mt. Newton High School, enlisting in the army in Sept., 1942.

If your auto engine won't start and you suspect that the battery is getting weak, stop and let it rest—don't put water into the cells but check the posts and connectors to make sure they are clean and tight.

Economical Baked Meat Roll

A new and tasty way of making a main dish out of meat and vegetable left-overs.

Now that we all must make our meats go further and yet serve properly balanced meals in accordance with Canada's Nutrition Program—new, interesting ways of using left-over meat and vegetables are much in demand.

Try this baked meat roll next time you have one or two cupfuls of meat left over. Make biscuit dough: 2 cups sifted flour, 4 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt, 4 tbsp. Jewel Shortening, 3/4 cup milk. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in Jewel finely. Add milk gradually. Put the meat through the grinder and combine with any left-over vegetables or some raw chopped cabbage or grated carrots. Add finely chopped onion, soft bread crumbs and an egg to bind. Season to taste. Moisten with a little meat stock or tomato juice and a dash of Worcester Sauce. Enclose in the dough, wet and seal ends and bake in a hot oven 30 minutes or until paste is done. Served with a green salad or leafy green vegetable, your family will love it. Don't forget to serve milk, tomato or citrus fruit and Canada Approved bread as well as meat and vegetables each day.

When you are baking pies, plan to economize by using your hot oven for main meal dishes like the meat roll described above.

The bride wore a pink crepe afternoon frock, with matching hat, and corsage bouquet of gardenias. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. G. W. Funnell, as matron of honor, in rose crepe, with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. Thomas Sandwith was best man.

A wedding dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Ford, North Park Street, where the young couple received the congratulations of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Kavis have taken up residence on North Park Street.

Agnes Macphail Says C.C.F. Women Equal With Men

TORONTO (CP) — Agnes Macphail, newly-elected Toronto C.C.F. member in the Ontario Legislature, believes that if the C.C.F. Party ever gains a majority in the House of Commons, a new type of Canadian woman will appear on the floor of the House and at political tea parties. Most of the women attending the meeting of the Ontario general council of the C.C.F. seem to be proof.

"In the C.C.F., women play an equal part with the men," said Miss Macphail. "Look at Ruth Jolliffe for instance." The pretty, blonde wife of the Ontario party leader hurried past.

"If this was a convention of one of the old parties, she would be all dressed up, looking beautiful in a picture hat, but making no contribution whatsoever. But in the C.C.F. we love her for her brain. She's not just the wife of the leader. She's a fellow worker, an important executive."

Musical Arts Plan Interesting Fare

The City of Victoria has an organization in its midst, the Musical Arts Society, which has for many years endeavored to add to the cultural life of the city by presenting outstanding artists from other parts of the Dominion and the United States and by encouraging musical talent in the younger generation of the city and its environs.

Arising from the original ladies' musical club the newer society branched out with intermediate and junior student groups, members of the parent society acting as advisers. Most of the city's gifted young artists who have come to the fore in recent years have been members of these groups. The war has its effect on the musical life of a city as on every other aspect and many of these young men and women are now serving in His Majesty's forces.

In presenting a programme for the forthcoming season the directors have striven to provide entertainment which will appeal, not only to sincere music lovers, but also to those who are in search of relaxation from war work.

The opening concert, in the Empress Hotel ballroom, Oct. 20, will feature the "Cavaliers," with Enid Conley at piano. Among this group of eight picked male voices are those of Clement Q. Williams, Australian baritone and Leonard Hayman, well known Canadian tenor. Enid Conley, accompanist, is heard very frequently on programs over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, from C.B.C.

Further concerts will present Lella Pirani, violinist, and Max Pirani, pianist, whose artistic recital at the recent summer school received great acclaim; Gwendolyn Harper, pianist; the Georgian Chorists; and artist students.

Girls to Discuss Postwar Problems

The first in an interesting series of discussions entitled "After the War—What?" will be held at the Y.W.C.A. Thursday evening, Sept. 30. Four Thursday evenings, from Sept. 30 to Oct. 21 inclusive, will be devoted to open discussion on "How Youth May Take Their Place in a Different Postwar World?" and "In What Ways Will It Be Different?"

Miss Mabel Cameron, acting assistant deputy Minister of Labor, will lead the first discussion on economic security, considering the questions of what jobs will be available for young women, opportunities for training, advantages provided by the government and where to find vocational guidance. With Mrs. Albert Sullivan the group will discuss social adjustments, including changes in standards of education, friends, amusements, marriage and the home.

Citizenship at home and abroad, and the preparation needed for young people who could truly help to direct and control the new world will be the subjects of discussion with Miss Margaret Clay, city librarian. Closely linked with the other subjects, and perhaps most important of all, the group will discuss Christianity as a way of living, an experience of achievement rather than a mere name or creed. Mrs. O. A. Butters will be leader of this closing session.

Sister M. Isabelle Of St. Joseph's Villa Died Saturday

Following an illness of almost two years, Sister Mary Isabelle, Marie Honora Laurin, died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Saturday evening.

Sister Mary Isabelle was born June 3, 1890, at Napierville, Quebec. She attended the Sisters' School in that city and after the death of her invalid mother in 1908, joined her older sister, Sister Mary Perpetual Help, Superior, at St. Ann's Convent, Nanaimo, B.C.

Deciding to devote her life to works of charity, Miss Laurin entered the novitiate of the Sisters of St. Ann at Victoria in 1910. Two years later, having made religious profession in the institute, she received her first appointment to St. Ann's, Nanaimo, where she had the care of the little orphaned girls.

The 30 years of active service which Sister Mary Isabelle gave to the works of the community in British Columbia were spent successively at Nanaimo, Victoria, New Westminster, Duncan, Little Flower Academy, Vancouver, and Lourdes Hospital, Campbell River. Her last appointment was to St. Joseph's Hospital, where she had the care of the chapel at St. Joseph's Villa.

Sister Mary Clementina of St. Ann's Academy, Vancouver, is a niece of Sister Mary Isabelle. The Mass of Requiem will be sung in St. Ann's Academy Chapel Tuesday morning, and will be followed by interment in the Sisters' Plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

GUARD against EYESTRAIN

WE are beginning to realize the long, dark evenings are on the way... Even though this is only September we are turning on the lights well before 8 o'clock. And with the fall and winter ahead we shall be obliged to spend many hours in electric light—working, reading, studying, sewing and doing many other jobs. This is going to mean danger to our eyesight unless we make sure the lighting conditions in our homes are all they should be.

Poor light is insidious—like a fifth columnist it sneaks up on you—you do not realize the strain it imposes—how harsh, glaring light, or those bothersome shadows distract your eyes—make seeing harder.

Remember your eyes have to last a lifetime. They are priceless. And, when light comes to you so easily, we can with very little trouble have in our homes soft, glareless, well-diffused lighting.

Now is the time to check over your lighting fixtures. Get rid of wasteful, blackened and burned-out bulbs. Replace them with efficient new bulbs of the right type and size.

Ask at our Douglas Street Store for advice on lights and lighting—they'll be only too glad to help you. You'll find that your home can be kept bright and cheerful throughout the dark days with benefits to eye-health beyond estimation.

War Savings Sales

Despite substantial sales created by the "Stamp Out the U-boat" campaign, War Savings Certificates sales in July in British Columbia and the Yukon showed a decrease from the June figures. In July, 60,510 individuals purchased to the extent of $392,168 as compared with 64,338 applications for $427,956 in the previous month.

July sales amounted to 6.9 per cent of the $5,605,087 Canadian total, as compared with 7.49 per cent of $5,714,392 in June. Sales of War Savings Stamps in British Columbia and the Yukon increased from $61,394.25 in June to $74,746.25 in July.

Maj. Allan, R.C.E., Wins Promotion Overseas

Maj. M. H. C. W. Allan, 24, has been promoted from the rank of captain in the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Maj. Allan is the son of Col. and Mrs. Hugh Allan, 1008 Deal Street. Col. Allan as colonial administration, Pacific Command, Vancouver. Maj. Allan is a native son of Victoria, and was educated at St. Michael's School, Oak Bay High School, Brentford College, and Royal Military College, Kingston.

He graduated in October, 1939, and arrived in England with the R.C.E. on Christmas Day, 1940.

Since the war started, most countries, both belligerents and neutrals, introduced price control or strengthened the system in operation before the war.

Expect Corsica To Fall Quickly

LONDON (CP)—The quick fall of Corsica was expected in London today on the heels of the German evacuation of Sardinia, which was seen as resulting directly from the Allied victory at Salerno.

One argument is that the Germans either had to hold both Sardinia and Corsica in strength or give up both and they had only elements of two divisions on the two islands before the push in Italy and fewer men afterward.

There was considerable jubilation here over the fall of Sardinia because it was felt the taking of the island by force would have been considerably harder than the capture of Sicily, since it would have required a longer water haul.

The Nazi evacuation, apparently without firing a shot, saved lives and trouble and gave the Allies excellent airfields for harassing the Germans in northern Italy.

York Archbishop Visiting Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The Archbishop of York, wearing a purple cassock, arrived at a Moscow airport Sunday as the representative of the Church of England to visit the hierarchy of the Russian Orthodox Church.

A delegation of the Orthodox Church, including the Metropolitan Nikolai of Kiev and the Archbishop Sergei of Gorky, met him at the plane in the name of the Metropolitan Sergei of Moscow, the newly-elected Patriarch of All Russia.

The Archbishop came at the invitation of the Patriarch, with whom a series of conferences is planned.

Emerging from the passenger plane, the prelate embraced the representatives of the Orthodox Church.

The Archbishop said: "I bring you and your nation the greetings of our church. I rejoice in the election of your Patriarch. I look forward to meeting him in the coming days and having many conversations with him."

A London announcement last week that he already had arrived in Moscow was premature owing to a misunderstanding about the schedule of his trip.

Sport Dies Gamely In Europe

Develop No Athletes

LONDON (CP)—The next Olympic Games, if held within a year or two after the end of the war, are almost certain to be dominated completely by athletes from the democratic wartime coalition of united nations. In the occupied countries of Europe sports have died a violent death.

Germany and possibly Japan may show only a comparatively slight decline from prewar standards because in their subjugation of other lands nutritional standards for their own young men have been kept on a high plane, and military sports competitions have been maintained in much the same manner as in Russia, the United States, Britain, Canada and others of the United Nations.

But in those of the occupied countries which still maintain national sporting competitions, few young athletes have been developed. Military service, forced labor for the aggressor nations, and lack of the necessary food energy have killed their chances. It may be another generation before these defeated nations will be able to develop another good athletic crop.

The high Scandinavian level in some winter sports likely will be little decreased, even among men from Norway—occupied for most of the war. Skiing competitions, for instance, were continued there in an almost normal manner until they became scenes of nationalistic demonstrations against the Germans.

Even now, although competitions are not permitted on a national scale, skiing remains the national winter sports among those men who have not been able to escape to carry on their country's fight from elsewhere.

Railway Bridge In Burma Wrecked

NEW DELHI (CP)—Allied medium bombers made a concentrated attack Sunday on Monya, capital of the Chindwin district in Burma, and halted rail traffic from the east by smashing the Mu River bridge, headquarters of the U.S. army air force said today.

The bulletin declared extensive damage was done to the dock area and fires left burning all along the east bank of the Chindwin River. Direct hits were observed on a power station and other buildings. All planes were reported to have returned.

The communique pointed out the Chindwin is the most important river in Burma for logging operations and when the monsoon ends its waters fall rapidly, limiting the use of water transport. Interruption of rail communications therefore is especially important.

90 Per Cent Occupancy At Jubilee Hospital

Occupancy in the Royal Jubilee Hospital for the month of August was 90 per cent it was revealed at the last meeting of the board of directors.

This is much higher than normal. Number of patient days was 10,163, compared with 9,230 in August, 1942. There were 92 births, compared with 74 last year.

It was pointed out that the present schedule of fees will have to be revised as they have elsewhere in the province.

Shortage of labor is causing the hospital a great deal of difficulty in obtaining help, it was stated. A cost-of-living bonus was granted to all hospital employees retroactive from Sept. 1.

Many People Buying Islands' Waterfront

The Gulf Islands are becoming more and more the homes of comfortably-off, retired people, Hon. Geo. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor and Provincial Secretary, reported today on his return from a week's tour of his constituency of Nanaimo and the Islands.

He said any property on the islands' waterfront is now at a premium. Population of the islands, however, is decreasing, as people leave for the armed services and war industries. The school on Saturna Island is closed because there are not enough children. On South Pender Island there are only five families left.

Mr. Pearson traveled from island to island by motor launch, spending nights on a number of occasions at farmhouses, because there were no hotels.

On Mayne Island he said white farmers tried all summer to raise the big tomato crop formerly grown by Japanese, but labor shortages had interfered.

B.C. Fire College Opens Convention

Opening their four-day session at the Oak Bay Municipal Hall this morning, the British Columbia Fire College, comprised of chiefs and firemen from all over the province as well as representatives of the services, commenced their studies as soon as formalities were over.

Welcomed by Oak Bay civic officials, Reeve W. L. Woodhouse and Councillor Walter Walker, the delegates were addressed by Chief G. A. MacDonald, president. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn pronounced the invocation.

Fire chiefs from Vancouver and lower mainland, from the interior and north coast were introduced. Chief J. G. Crowther represented the R.C.N., Sgt. W. Hulme the Army, and P.O. Walter Carlisle, the R.C.A.F. Six N.C.O.'s from the air force were also present.

A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer of Oak Bay, gave a paper on "Clearing of Water Mains," followed by a discussion period.

This afternoon instruction in all phases of fire-fighting was given at the Oak Bay Fire Hall, under the leadership of Instructor-in-chief Robert Taylor, deputy fire chief, Victoria, and a corps of instructors.

All fire chiefs became, for the time being, students as they were brought up to date on centrifugal and rotary pumps, salvage work, inhalator instruction, first aid work, and salvage, including protection of property from water damage.

Fit. Lt. Hugh Parker, R.A.F., will address the convention to night in the Oak Bay High School auditorium.

A paper on "Planer Shavings and Sawdust for Insulation" will be given by R. M. Brown, forest products laboratory, University of B.C. Moving pictures will complete the evening session.

Wives of the visiting firemen will be entertained at the Dominion government observatory. Fire Chief E. Claydon has also arranged an afternoon at the races, theatre and tea parties for the guests.

John A. Bell Named To War Labor Board

OTTAWA (CP)—John A. Bell, chairman of the general adjustment committee of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, was appointed today to the National War Labor Board to succeed temporarily J. L. Cohen, K.C., whose membership was terminated by the federal cabinet.

Mr. Bell, a resident of Toronto, has been prominent in Canadian labor activities for many years. He has been serving as a member of the National War Labor Board advisory committee, and is also a member of the National Selective Service Administration advisory committee. His appointment to the board was announced from the office of Prime Minister King.

The temporary nature of Mr. Bell's appointment was not explained in Mr. King's announcement, which said merely that he had been appointed "pro tempore" to succeed Mr. Cohen.

Mr. Bell, a native of Utopia, Ont., is 64.

He entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway as a telegraph operator in 1910 and has been on leave of absence from the company since 1924, giving his whole time to union activities.

Mr. Bell's appointment brings the board to its full strength of three at a time when it faces a heavy list of references on which it will begin work tomorrow.

Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, chairman, now is the only member of the board, as it was reconstituted last February, still holding office.

Lieut. Howard B. Barnett, R.C. N.V.R., attached to the Royal Navy, who has been appointed commanding officer of a motor torpedo boat. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barnett, Cedar Hill Road. Born in Victoria 23 years ago, he was educated at Victoria High School, Victoria College and Normal School. From his boyhood he was a member of Christ Church Cathedral choir.

Leonard A. Simmonds, Blenkinsop Road, told city police Sunday his car had been stolen from outside the Crystal Garden Saturday night. Theft of two gasoline ration books from his car, parked at Jones Bros' service station, was reported to police by J. H. Tahouney, Milnes Landing.

A good-sized crowd turned out for the final band concert of the season in Beacon Hill Park Sunday at which the Esquimalt Garrison Band of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps was featured. Soloists were the well-known tenor, Tom Kelway and Cpl. S. H. Darville, piccolo player. A collection was taken to provide Christmas fruit baskets for inmates of local hospitals, the Orphanage, the Old Men's Home and the Solarium.

Sub-Lt. John William Isnor, R.C.N.R., was fined $20 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving dangerously last Sept. 12. He was represented by G. H. Sedger. One white man pleaded guilty of being drunk on Yates Street. He was fined $25. Two Indians were each fined $25 for possessing liquor. Janet Williams was sentenced to 30 days on a charge of theft. Two motorists were fined $15 each for exceeding the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit. Four paid $2.50 parking fines. Two others were each fined $5 for making a U-turn and disobeying a traffic signal. One pedestrian was fined $1 for walking against a red light.

Milk Truck Hits Store

A loaded milk truck, driven on Douglas Street early today by John A. Cameron, 3462 Seymour, went out of control and crashed into the side of Dennis Hoare's shoe store at 3255 Douglas, and continued on to overturn on a vacant lot.

The driver of the truck was unhurt and not a single bottle of milk was broken.

Cameron told Constable Jack Hamilton the truck went into a skid when he swerved to avoid a dog on the street.

Italian Aircraft Reaching Allies

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA (AP)—Italian aircraft are continuing to escape from German-held positions of Italy and a considerable number of them have safely reached Allied fields, air force officials said today.

Like the Italian fleet, the Italian air force appeared to be doing its best to comply fully with the terms of the armistice whereby they were bound to exert every effort to prevent the planes from falling into German hands.

The annual general meeting of the A.O.F. Carpet Bowling Club will be held in the A.O.F. Hall Wednesday at 8. All members are asked to attend.

Justice Welcomed; Property Cases Up

Mr. Justice J. T. Thomson, presiding at his first session in Exchequer Court in Victoria, moved ahead with hearings on expropriation proceedings at Patricia Bay today following a brief welcome from counsel represented in the cases listed.

H. A. Beeckwith, representing the Crown, extended greetings to Mr. Justice Thomson and wished him many years to enjoy his post.

H. W. Davey, appearing for plaintiffs in all four cases, echoed the sentiments.

"I am deeply conscious of the responsibility imposed upon me and hope to live up, in some measure, to the tradition of this court," Mr. Justice Thomson said. His objective, he added, would be to determine cases on the law as it is, leaving changes to the appropriate legislative authorities.

LOCAL CASES
In the first case, the presiding judge is asked to determine compensation to E. I. Jones for property taken over by the Department of National Defence. Two other cases, one involving holdings of L. W. E. Evans and the other W. Bamford, over property in the same locality, while a fourth is located some distance away.

The Crown has offered $25,000 less $3,250 covering a lease on part of the property, as compensation to Mr. Jones. Originally Mr. Jones agreed to accept the gross sum and remove six buildings from the property. Before money was paid, Mr. Jones found he could secure no contractor to remove the buildings, which he values at $12,000, within the required time. On that basis he seeks a total of $37,000.

The owner and Thos. J. Gurton gave evidence on values and service returns on the property in question.

B.C. Labor Situation Not Good—Pearson

Hon. Geo. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said today employer-employee relations in B.C. in many cases are not as harmonious as they might be.

"The situation at the present time is very unsatisfactory, because certain organizations are over aggressive and certain employers are not sympathetic to bargaining with the unions and are putting obstacles in the way," the minister said.

One clause in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act is invalid only because there is a similar clause in the Criminal Code of Canada, Mr. Pearson said. This, he said, does not in any way weaken the B.C. act, because the government, if there is ground, can prosecute under the Code.

Mr. Pearson said he does not anticipate at this time that the act will be reopened next session.

"The position of the workers has not been weakened at all," Mr. Pearson said.

Elected to Executive

Elected for two-year term on the executive of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were A. A. Baker, George Beck, T. M. Little, W. A. Mooney and T. Woolson.

Edward Mallek and Logan Mayhew were elected for one-year terms.

Coal in Washington Will Be Rationed

SEATTLE (AP)—Deliveries of coal in Washington, Oregon and the 10 counties of northern Idaho today were put on a restricted basis under a system of priorities similar to that already in effect in deliveries of wood.

Industrial, commercial and agricultural users who must keep their operation going will have first call on available supplies. Domestic users whose supply of wood and coal is less than a fourth of their annual needs will be next in line. They may have enough to bring their supply up to a fourth.

Next in preferential order will be: Domestic users who have one-fourth or more but less than one-half of their annual needs. They may order up to one-half.

Consumers who have one-half or more, but less than their year's needs, may order up to their annual needs.

(The possibility of such a system of rationing coming into effect in Victoria was discounted by local fuel dealers. At the present time, one man said, his firm was only supplying apartment houses, private hospitals and a few cafes with any large orders of coal. Most private consumers were having their orders cut down he said, and at the present time he is just beginning to fill orders placed in June.)

Constable K. Hall, Sunday, afternoon, took some playing cards and money from three juvenile boys who were playing black jack in Beacon Hill Park.

Dr. J. S. Thomson Not Resigning As CBC Manager

OTTAWA (CP)—A full meeting of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation opened here today and adjourned for lunch without any public statement being made, but it was intimated a statement would be issued Tuesday.

Dr. J. S. Thomson, general manager of the corporation for the past year, told the Canadian Press his resignation was not before the board and would not be.

"My term of office expires Nov. 2," Dr. Thomson said, declining to discuss the possibility of his remaining for a longer period.

When he was selected to fill the vacancy created by retirement of the former general manager, Gladstone Murray, Dr. Thomson obtained a year's leave of absence from the University of Saskatchewan, of which he is president.

His appointment was for a year beginning Nov. 2, 1942, Dr. Thomson said.

There have been frequent reports that Dr. Thomson had tendered his resignation or was about to do so.

Those whose names have been reported under consideration as a successor to Dr. Thomson include L. W. Brockington, K.C., former chairman of the board and now special adviser to the British Ministry of Information.

There also have been unofficial reports that Rene Morin, chairman of the board, who presided over today's meeting, would shortly retire and that he would be succeeded by Dr. Thomson.

Begin Harvesting McIntosh Reds

Okanagan apple growers have begun or will begin shortly to harvest McIntosh Reds, the Department of Agriculture reports today in its horticultural news letter.

In the Salmon Arm district late varieties of apples, particularly Jonathan and Delicious, have suffered a severe check in some orchards due to shortage of soil moisture and much depends on weather conditions during the next few weeks if the fruit is to reach marketable size.

Several districts report a shortage of ripe tomatoes for canning, heavy shipments of green tomatoes going out to fresh markets. Prune picking at Kelowna is in full swing and Anjou pears will commence next week.

Constable K. Hall, Sunday, afternoon, took some playing cards and money from three juvenile boys who were playing black jack in Beacon Hill Park.

Funeral Notice

Emergent meeting of Malahat Lodge No. 107, A.F. & A.M., will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 21, at Mill Bay, for purpose of attending burial service of late Wm. Brother W. H. Seales.

Tax Collections Jump

By the end of last week, city tax collections had risen $31,212 above those for the corresponding period last year, officials of the assessor-collector's department said today.

The amount received at closing time Saturday was $995,661, against $964,449 at Sept. 18, 1942.

The surge in payment was attributed to a desire on the part of property owners to avoid the first surcharge of 1 per cent levied on accounts outstanding Oct. 2. The penalties increase to a gross 6 per cent by the end of the year.

First meeting of Cedar Hill P.T.A. will be held at the school Wednesday evening at 8. New members are invited.

Sparkling Comedy

George Stevens, producer-director of Columbia's "The More the Merrier," is Hollywood's leading "ladies' man." No person in the film city has had as much success with so-called "women's pictures," providing the finest roles, directorial work and films for such stars as Katharine Hepburn, Irene Dunne, Barbara Stanwyck and Jean Arthur who is currently starred with Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn in Stevens' "The More the Merrier," a Columbia picture at the Plaza Theatre.

Bataan' Held Over

At the Dominion

The United States and Allied governments have praised the values of films as a vital factor in the war effort.

Take the picture, "Bataan," currently at the Dominion Theatre, as a case in point.

This unusual war drama, based on a story by Robert D. Andrews with Robert Taylor, George Murphy, Thomas Mitchell, Lloyd Nolan and many others heading the cast, presents with stark strength the part played by the modern "Tommy," or sub-machine gun, in global warfare.

The set represents a strategic pass deep in the Bataan jungles. Machine guns must be put in place before the fast-moving action begins.

"Feminine Touch" Plays at Oak Bay

Don Ameche is as unconcerned about his rise as a cake of yeast. It isn't that he is phlegmatic in any sense of the word, but he is philosophical. Those years of law study have bequeathed him a reserve of quiet strength and a restraint that serves him well on the screen.

In his most recent picture, "The Feminine Touch," now being shown at the Oak Bay Theatre, both of these qualities are evident in his role as a young college professor who declines to consider jealousy as an intelligent emotion. Rosalind Russell is the wife who shatters his conviction. Kay Francis and Van Heflin of the New York stage, are co-starred in this four-angled comedy.

'Casablanca' Comes To Cadet Theatre

Casablanca, the city that flashed into the news as part of the bold and brilliant American invasion of North Africa, splashed boldly and brilliantly on to the screen of the Cadet Theatre today when Warner Bros. "Casablanca" opened.

It was sound military tactics that took a place name like Casablanca out of the geography books and put it in headlines, but it is thorough, sound showmanship that makes the screen play "Casablanca" a vivid and exciting adventure.
